The Game Info window displays game info, which includes your Hand Combination.

Rival Catch - Right view

The Rival Catch window displays the odds of your opponent having a specific card in their hand.

Outs – Right Center view

The Outs window displays any remaining card that will help you win the current hand. The percentage indicates your odds of winning the hand if you get a specific card.

The '8 Outs' represents the amount of chances you have to get a card that will help you win the hand. The 'Deck Cards' represents the amount of cards left in the deck.

Pot Odds – Right Center view

The Pot Odds window displays the amount of money in the pot (Total Pot) compared to the amount you should call to continue playing (Max Call).

The 'Ratio' indicates the current size of the pot to the cost of a contemplated call.

Please Note: Pot Odds and Outs only comes after the flop. Our current code for Pot Odds is having very tight conditions for Straight and Flush's and due to this, the Max Call values comes very rarely for Pot Odds. This is set for Advance users.

Strategies

The Strategies option allows the user to select preferences when playing different types of Texas Hold'em games.

Advice Adjustment:

No Limit - A game in which, on his turn, a player can bet all of his chips (or of his opponent's, if the bettor has more), as opposed to a limit game, in which all bets and raises are in multiples of the betting limit

Pot Limit - A game whose betting limit is always equal to the current size of the pot. A raise can include the size of the pot after the call is accounted for.

Heads Up - Pertaining to two players playing a game by themselves.

Tournament - Competition among players, sometimes with one buy-in, in which case it is often called a freeze-out tournament, and then played down till there are a preset number of players remaining, at which point all win the chips they have at that time, or till one is left, at which point prizes are awarded that are percentages of the total bought in, with the most for the first-place winner, next for second, and so on.

Loose - Playing liberally; not tight In high draw, usually implies drawing to all the little pairs, all the four-straight and four-flushes, and many of the two-card draws to other than trips, and often calling many bets and raises to do so. In hold 'em, playing almost any two-card starting combination, and playing through to the river on almost anything that has a prayer of winning.

Tight - Playing very conservatively; showing little gamble; not likely to take a chance; having stringent playing requirements. Compare with close to the chest, conservative, drummer, hardrock, milker. nutted up, rocked up, rock, rocky, screwed down.

Post Flop

See Pre Flop for betting definitions.
